Principal, Investment Consulting and Lead of Real Assets Research Normandin Beaudry
Montréal, Québec

Bruno Saintonge is a principal in investment consulting at Normandin Beaudry, an independent consulting firm owned by its professionals that serves clients across Canada. After spending nearly five years at a portfolio management firm specializing in real assets, Bruno returned to Normandin Beaudry in 2021. Since then, he has been the lead of the real assets research team, which supports clients in developing their real estate and infrastructure portfolios, as well as in selecting and monitoring managers. Additionally, Bruno is a member of Normandin Beaudry's sustainable investment team, contributing to the development of expertise and its integration into processes and various initiatives of the real assets research team. His expertise in private markets combined with his knowledge of sustainability has also led him to focus on thematic and impact investing. Bruno is distinguished by his ability to communicate complex investment strategies, his critical thinking, and his pragmatism. He graduated with a degree in actuarial science in 2008.
